

GATWICK AIRPORT
DETAILED MOVEMENT and NIGHT PERIOD ANALYSIS BY AIRLINE OPERATOR
APRIL 2023

I append summarised details of the daily movements at Gatwick together with details of actual night period movements by airline for the month of April 2023. There are based on official Eurocontrol sources as downloaded and recorded each day online on The Original Gatwick Spotters List. Now that flights are getting back towards the pre-pandemic levels, this Report also shows the equivalent movements in April 2019 and highlighting the significant changes. April, of course, is the first full month of the 'summer' schedules and as expected there are increasing levels of operations. It is hoped that these analyses will assist in making informed representations in regard to the current regulatory consultations and committees.

Overall Summary of Movements.

Appendix 1 shows the numbers of movements each week since June 2021 with the April movements running at just under 700 per day as against just under 600 in March. By comparison, April 2022 averaged 630 movements a day.

Appendix 2 shows a daily movement count for each airline. EasyJet continues to dominate traffic movements with a little over 50% of all movements. Of the short-haul traffic, the summer season has seen some new operators arrive – notably Lufthansa twice-daily and Sky Express from Greece on a daily basis and with Corendon (Turkey) five times a week. On the other hand, Swiss, which hitherto operated four return flights at weekends and Aegean Airlines (2 a week) have ceased these services. Air Malta is back to a daily service, up from four services a week and Sun Express (Turkey) are back with one or two services a day. For obvious reasons, the Sudan carrier, Badr Airlines, a recent new carrier for Gatwick, ceased services mid-month.

On long-haul traffic changes, Air China are now back with a daily service and Delta Airlines has also commenced a daily service to the States from mid-month.

Apart from these changes, little has changed and, as related below, movements continue to be below 2019 equivalents.

Analysis of Night Period Flights

Appendix 3 below provides details of all movements by airline and time during the Night Period from 2300 to 0659.

In the period from 2300 to 0659; the hourly figures (half-hourly wef 0500) were as follows for April (March 2023 in brackets):

	Landings	Take-offs
2300-2359	657 (407)	28 (30)
0000-0059	342 (181)	9 (6)
0100-0159	254 (109)	6 (3)
0200-0259	145 (56)	2 (0)
0300-0359	46 (26)	0 (0)
0400-0459	31 (10)	0 (2)
0500-0529	10 (22)	11 (0)
0530-0559	46 (46)	135 (24)
0600-0629	102 (63)	331 (176)
0630-0659	107 (64)	388 (290)

This shows a massive increase in Night Period movements in April with landings totalling 1,700 (March was 984; February was 640) – an average of 56.7 per night as against 31.7 in March and 22.9 in February. Most notably were the late night landings which extended significantly into the 'small hours'. As the detailed figures below will show, this was as usual particularly down to EasyJet but British Airways short-haul (mainly now branded as BA Euroflyer) also featured significantly in comparison with their numbers of movements. Landings in the early morning also increased, though there was a notable reduction in the 0500-0529 slot. Early morning landings are generally long-haul airlines.

As regards Night Period take-offs, in April 2023 there were 910 in aggregate (March was 532 and February 447) an increase to 30.3 per night (March was 17.2 per night with 16.0 in February). Almost all were due to early morning 'getaways' with EasyJet predominating and one notes an average of 5 a day now leaving in the 0500-0559 slot – a material increase over the less than one a day in March.

Comparison with 2019

Appendices 4 and 5 set out the equivalent data for Gatwick movements pre-pandemic so one can compare both the extent to which Gatwick has recovered and also to note what has materially changed to assist in considering the possible future traffic movements, both in respect of actual numbers but also night movements. Quite clearly, there are many significant differences between what we see currently and the equivalent period in 2019.

First, looking at total movements for equivalent weeks, we see this for April (2019/2023):

Week One 5538/4955	Week Two 5661/4935	Week Three 5633/4825	Week Four 5571/4815
--------------------	--------------------	----------------------	---------------------

This suggests that traffic recovery levels were 89%; 87%; 85% and 86% respectively - with an aggregate of average 87% traffic recovery; slightly up from the March figure of 84%.

But, as previously reported, there were also some significant changes amongst the operators. While the 'lead player' EasyJet's comparison numbers are virtually the same, the loss of virtually half of the short-haul British Airways traffic to Heathrow remains notable. Operator changes in 2019 between March and April 2019 included the demise of FlyBe at the end of March and the ending of Air China services, though Wizz increased their one daily service to three (and in 2023 now average about 16 a day).

In comparing operators, previously noted was the demise of Thomas Cook (absorbed into Tui), Level (absorbed into Vueling), WOW Air (which actually went bust in March 2019) and Jota Airways. More significant was the loss of traffic following the financial reorganisation of Norwegian – particularly in relation to its long-haul flights, now down to one a day from a 2019 average of 11 or 12. Equally, Gatwick is no longer serviced by Virgin Atlantic and, of course, there are the airlines that no longer operate due to the Ukraine situation – Rossiya (Russia) operated a daily flight, Ukraine International averaged twice daily and there were lesser services from Belavia and Georgia. But in 2023 we do see some new airlines – Delta, Air India and JetBlue as significant long-haul carriers as well as the return of Air China.

As to the Night Period regime, it is interesting to see how the statistics compare, given that overall traffic movements in 2023 are 87% of 2019 levels.

	Landings		Take-offs
	2019	2023	2019	2023
2300-2359	559	657	71	28
0000-0059	228	342	11	9
0100-0159	223	254	2	6
0200-0259	45	145	0	2
0300-0359	45	46	0	0
0400-0459	18	31	0	0
0500-0529	15	10	5	11
0530-0559	17	46	132	135
0600-0629	147	102	363	331
0630-0659	157	107	496	388

Given the lower levels of traffic in 2023, the current significant increase in late night landings continues to be notable and perhaps calls for further examination and explanation. Notably, a high proportion of the night landings in the 0300 slot in 2019 were long-haul arrivals by Norwegian and which no longer occur; hence the significant increase in 2023 of 'small hours' arrivals remains a matter of concern. Overall, the decreased numbers of morning arrivals and departures in the 0530-0659 slot in 2023 is broadly in line with the reduction in overall traffic, though there is an increased level of 'getaways' in the 0500-0559 slot.

APPENDIX 3: GATWICK AIRPORT NIGHT PERIOD ANALYSIS – April 2023
Departures & Arrivals 23.00-07.00

Note: Up to 0500, the date refers to the 'night of' - eg April 1 is the night of April 1/2. Movements after 0500 are recorded on the actual date (except some 'just prior 0500' arrivals).
