

GATWICK AIRPORT DETAILED MOVEMENT and NIGHT PERIOD ANALYSIS BY AIRLINE OPERATOR SEPTEMBER 2023

Appended and below is my regular monthly report summarising details of the daily movements at Gatwick together with details of actual night period movements by airline for the month of September 2023. There are based on official Eurocontrol sources as downloaded and recorded each day online on The Original Gatwick Spotters List.

The number of flights in September has broadly stabilised both in actual terms but with a slight falling-off in comparison with pre-pandemic levels at about 94% of the equivalent in 2019 (August was 95%). This Report details the equivalent movements in the same month in 2019 so as to highlight changes, significant or otherwise. As to Night Movements, full details are provided and indicate that there continue to be material increases over pre-pandemic levels and, in particular arrivals after midnight through to the small hours. It is hoped that these analyses will assist in making informed representations in regard to the current regulatory consultations and committees.

Overall Summary of Movements.

Appendix 1 shows the numbers of movements each week since June 2021 and with the 'summer' season coming to a close, a not unexpected reduction to an average of 822 per day – down from the average August figures of 846 per day. The actual number of flights was affected by the serious Air Traffic Control issues affecting Gatwick in particular (both locally and in France). Pre-pandemic, the average in September 2019 was about 873 movements per day but those figures were also distorted by the British Airways strike on 9/10 September 2019 and by the collapse of Thomas Cook on 23 September. In the first week of September 2019, the average was 901 flights a day. But ignoring such factors, it still means that Gatwick in September was running at 94% of its pre-pandemic traffic levels. One can contrast this with Heathrow which has recently announced that its traffic levels are now above 2019's.

Appendix 2 shows a daily movement count for each airline. As previously noted, EasyJet continues to dominate the numbers and is now routinely operating more than one of every two flights in and out of Gatwick. There were few notable changes in September in comparison with August, indeed broad consistency month on month with a slight dropping off towards the month end. No new carriers have arrived and Qatar, previously operating two services a day with their Boeing 787s have dropped down to one, as also has the US carrier JetBlue.

Once again, we highlight the extent to which the regular carriers (notably BA and Tui) continued (and even increased) the use of leased in aircraft to maintain their summer schedules.

Analysis of Night Period Flights

Appendix 3 below provides details of all movements by airline and time during the Night Period from 2300 to 0659; including the 'core' period of 2330 to 0600 where the numbers of movements are, at least in theory, subject to regulatory capping.

In the period from 2300 to 0659; the hourly figures (half-hourly for 2300 and wef 0500) were as follows for September (August 2023 in brackets):

	Landings	Take-offs
2300-2329	346 (339)	76 (73)
2330-2359	370 (377)	34 (41)
0000-0059	557 (542)	24 (39)
0100-0159	410 (366)	7 (13)
0200-0259	294 (321)	3 (5)
0300-0359	151 (168)	2 (0)
0400-0459	61 (96)	4 (0)
0500-0529	22 (21)	21 (23)
0530-0559	10 (17)	238 (249)
0600-0629	108 (108)	429 (425)
0630-0659	147 (180)	456 (462)

September saw a slight increase in the number of arrivals during the Night Period with an aggregate of 2,476 landings (August - 2,535 but a month of 31 days) – an average of 82.5 per night as against 81.8 per night in August. As the above table illustrates, these increases continue to be predominately post-midnight and into the small hours. Otherwise, the figures are broadly similar month on month. As previously mentioned, of the three main London airports, Gatwick has by far the largest Government allowance for night movements for the Summer period. Adverse weather, air traffic control issues and other regular disruptions will no doubt be blamed - the limits applied are currently being reviewed by the DfT so we await their thoughts.

In terms of night departures, an aggregate of 1,294 in September compares to 1,330 in August – broadly similar at an average of 43.1 per night as against 42.9 in August.

Comparison with 2019

Appendices 4 and 5 set out the equivalent data for Gatwick movements pre-pandemic so one can compare both the extent to which Gatwick has recovered and also to note what has materially changed to assist in considering the possible future traffic movements. Quite clearly, there are many significant differences between what we see currently and the equivalent period in 2019.

First, looking at total movements for equivalent weeks, we see this for September (2019/2023):

Week One: 6309/5880 Week Two: 5954/5771 Week Three: 6147/5797 Week Four: 6059/5576

The overall traffic recovery levels were thus 93%; 97%; 94% and 92% in comparison with the equivalent pre-pandemic period. The Week Two figures are distorted by the British Airways strike in that week. But, overall, we see a slight slowing down in traffic recovery levels in comparison with 2019, although the impact of air traffic control problems no doubt has some effect. Again, we suggest that while life has perhaps returned to a level of normality, the overall economic climate combined with lifestyle changes both in business and leisure travel all suggest that predicted future growth may be optimistic. While the Northern Runway project may indeed ease congestion at peak times, the jury is out on whether the forecast significant expansion in flights by the end of this decade will actually occur.

As to the Night Period regime, it is also interesting to see how the statistics with 2019 compare, and remember that overall traffic movements in September 2023 were 94% of 2019 levels.

September:	Landings		Take-offs
	2019	2023	2019	2023
2300-2329	371	346	87	76
2330-2359	358	370	40	34
0000-0059	482	557	24	24
0100-0159	376	410	8	7
0200-0259	219	294	6	3
0300-0359	120	151	1	2
0400-0459	46	61	7	4
0500-0529	25	22	11	21
0530-0559	28	10	134	238
0600-0629	134	108	411	429
0630-0659	158	147	518	456

What this particular illustrates is that there continues to be a significant increase in arrivals during the 'small hours' post-midnight in comparison with 2019. It also illustrates the shifting of early morning departures into the 0500-0559 period; mainly by EasyJet. Early morning landings show a reduction due mainly to less overnight long-haul traffic.

As mentioned above, the Night Flight regime is currently under review by the DfT and we would hope that they are taking account of the current figures now that a level of normality has returned. We should hear further on this towards the end of the year.
