

GATWICK AIRPORT
DETAILED MOVEMENT and NIGHT PERIOD ANALYSIS BY AIRLINE OPERATOR
NOVEMBER 2024

Appended below is my regular monthly detailed report summarising both the daily movements at Gatwick and details of actual night period movements by airline for the month of November 2024. These are based on official Eurocontrol sources as downloaded and recorded each day online on The Original Gatwick Spotters List.

As expected, November's traffic levels were significantly down from October. Average daily movements were 572 as against 794 in October (and 615 in November 2019). But, interestingly, there was a reversal of the recovery rate in comparison with 2019 at 93%, against October's 100.7% with an aggregate number of movements of 17,164 (2019 = 18,450). The recovery rate was also lower than the improving trends shown during the summer. As to Night Movements, full details are, as always, provided and this month the level of night movements indicated that, as expected, the overall numbers were reducing particularly towards the month end but were perhaps surprisingly materially above the equivalent numbers in 2019. And, once again we continue to highlight the significant increase in early morning departures particularly in the 0530-0629 period in comparison with 2019 as well as the increased arrivals in the small hours after midnight.

We anticipate that the movement numbers will increase during the Christmas period.

It is hoped that these analyses will assist in making informed representations in regard to the current regulatory consultations and committees.

Overall Summary of Movements.

Appendix 1 shows the numbers of movements each week since July 2021 with this month's movements being an average of 572 per day; very similar to 2023's average of 569 per day – which could suggest that Gatwick's recovery from the pandemic may have stalled.

Appendix 2 shows a daily movement count for each airline. While EasyJet still predominates, it had, as might be expected, significantly reduced its number of services in the month but it is noted that other low-cost carriers such as WizzAir and Vueling were still at the same levels of movements as in October. And, interestingly, the number of Ryanair services actually increased in the month – from its previous fairly uniform 20 movements a day to up to a peak of 28 movements (on Saturdays).

Several airlines disappeared during the month including Croatia and the two Turkish carriers, Corendon and Freebird while on the other hand, the Midlands-based package holiday airline, Jet2 returned as it has in previous years, presumably picking up otherwise unused slots.

Since there may be concerns over the future demand for short-haul European services, Gatwick is actively seeking to increase its acquisition of long-haul airlines and it is reported that Uganda Airlines will commence operations four times a week in December.

Analysis of Night Period Flights

Appendix 3 below provides details of all movements by airline and time during the Night Period from 2300 to 0659; including the 'core' period of 2330 to 0559 where the numbers of movements are, at least in theory, subject to regulatory capping (there remains controversy as to a number of mechanisms which allow flights in excess of the cap).

In the period from 2300 to 0659; the hourly figures (half-hourly for 2300 and wef 0500) were as follows for November (October 2024 in brackets):

	Arrivals	Departures
2300-2329	150 (375)	6 (42)
2330-2359	84 (328)	2 (13)
0000-0059	76 (416)	1 (7)
0100-0159	53 (266)	1 (3)
0200-0259	33 (192)	1 (0)
0300-0359	13 (66)	0 (0)
0400-0459	28 (46)	0 (4)
0500-0529	45 (19)	3 (37)
0530-0559	53 (15)	34 (264)
0600-0629	115 (129)	261 (423)
0630-0659	94 (161)	260 (426)

Movements in the Night Period in November were notably lower than those in October with arrivals aggregating 744 (as against 2,013 in October) – an average of 24.8 per night (October 65.5). It was, however, noticeable that arrivals between 0500-0559 were much higher than in October – due almost entirely to long-haul arrivals. Night Period departures were also far lower in comparison with the previous month and totalled 569 (October 1,219) an average of 19.0 per night as against the October average of 39.3 per night. There was a very significant reduction in EasyJet departures in the 0500-0559 period.

Comparisons with 2019 (pre-Covid)

Appendices 4 and 5 set out the equivalent data for Gatwick movements pre-pandemic so one can compare both the extent to which Gatwick has recovered and also help illustrate what has materially changed so to assist in considering the possible future traffic movements. While there have been, as previously related, some significant operator changes between 2019 and today, the overall mix is not dissimilar with still a heavy concentration on short-haul low-fare European flights.

First, looking at total movements for equivalent weeks, we see this for November (2024/2019):

Week One: 4115/4398 Week Two: 3832/4230 Week Three: 3696/4188 Week Four: 3928/4233

The overall traffic recovery levels in the four weeks were thus 93.5%, 90.6%, 88.2% and 92.8% in comparison with the equivalent pre-pandemic period. This is a significant reversal of the levels of recovery indicated in October (and indeed for earlier months).

In regard to Night Movements, we compare the current month with the equivalent in 2019 and in 2023.

November:	Arrivals			Departures
	2019	2023	2024	2019	2023	2024
2300-2329	173	183	150	20	5	6
2330-2359	59	109	84	5	4	2
0000-0059	24	122	76	2	7	1
0100-0159	5	25	53	2	2	1
0200-0259	5	8	33	0	7	1
0300-0359	21	13	13	10	1	0
0400-0459	19	17	28	0	0	0
0500-0529	54	9	45	1	1	3
0530-0559	69	46	53	7	34	34
0600-0629	124	108	115	138	178	261
0630-0659	137	117	94	258	237	260
Totals	690	757	744	443	476	569
Core Night	256	349	385	27	56	42

This comparison shows that the number of night arrivals in November 2024 were somewhat higher than pre-Covid and notably in the small hours after midnight despite the overall lower number of movements. This is a continuing trend during 2024.

The overall level of night departures was, on the same basis, also materially up on both 2019 and 2023 figures. Significant is the increase in the 0530 to 0629 period which are more than double the 2019 figures. While EasyJet have substantially reduced their departures in the pre-0559 period than compared with October, they still form the majority of the early morning departures.

Yet again, we are still awaiting the much promised but delayed outcome of the review by the DfT of the Night Flight regime. Hopefully, they are aware of the increase in actual movements that have actually occurred in comparison with 2019.
