

GATWICK AIRPORT DETAILED MOVEMENT and NIGHT PERIOD ANALYSIS BY AIRLINE OPERATOR

NOVEMBER 2023

Appended below is my regular monthly report summarising details of the daily movements at Gatwick together with details of actual night period movements by airline for the month of November 2023. These are based on official Eurocontrol sources as downloaded and recorded each day online on The Original Gatwick Spotters List.

With the cross-over into the 'Winter Season', there was a significant reduction in overall movements in the month of November. Perhaps more interestingly, while the numbers of movements were some 12% higher than the equivalent month in 2022, the post-pandemic recovery dropped back to being only 90% of the number of movements in comparison with 2019 (whereas October's figures suggested a 96% recovery).

As to Night Movements, full details are provided and also still show that, notwithstanding the reduction in overall numbers, there continues to be material increases of night movements over pre-pandemic levels and, in particular arrivals after midnight. Additionally, there was a notable increase in early morning departures in comparison with 2019.

It is hoped that these analyses will assist in making informed representations in regard to the current regulatory consultations and committees.

Overall Summary of Movements.

Appendix 1 shows the numbers of movements each week since June 2021 and shows this month's movements averaged 569 per day – down from October's average of 774 per day. Pre-pandemic, the average in November 2019 was about 631 movements per day, which means that Gatwick in November was running at 90% of its equivalent pre-pandemic traffic levels.

Appendix 2 shows a daily movement count for each airline. While EasyJet continues to dominate the numbers, looking at the final week of November they were operating only 55% of the number of services in comparison with the last week of October. Tui, likewise were operating only about half the number they operated in October.

We also see that quite a few airlines no longer operated Gatwick services (or had substantially reduced them). This included long-haul carriers such as WestJet and Delta (although Air Mauritius had commenced a daily service and Ethiopian three times a week). With short-haul airlines, the services by Eastern European carriers Enter Air, Croatia, Dan-Air (Romania) had all but ceased and there were substantial reductions by the various Turkish and Tunisian airlines. The only significant additional operator now back is Jet2, who tend to operate from Gatwick only in the Winter season supporting Mediterranean cruises.

Analysis of Night Period Flights

Appendix 3 below provides details of all movements by airline and time during the Night Period from 2300 to 0659; including the 'core' period of 2330 to 0600 where the numbers of movements are, at least in theory, subject to regulatory capping.

In the period from 2300 to 0659; the hourly figures (half-hourly for 2300 and wef 0500) were as follows for November (October 2023 in brackets):

	Landings	Take-offs
2300-2329	183 (378)	5 (27)
2330-2359	109 (312)	4 (17)
0000-0059	122 (396)	7 (8)
0100-0159	25 (260)	2 (4)
0200-0259	8 (150)	0 (0)
0300-0359	13 (50)	1 (1)
0400-0459	17 (33)	0 (1)
0500-0529	9 (14)	1 (22)
0530-0559	46 (15)	34 (188)
0600-0629	108 (97)	178 (441)
0630-0659	117 (133)	237 (447)

With the steady reduction in overall movements, we are seeing material reduction in night-time traffic with arrivals during the Night Period aggregating 757 landings (as against 1,838 in October) – an average of 25.2 per night as against an average of 59.3 per night in October. As the above table illustrates, these reductions are predominately late night arrivals, with early morning landings even showing a slight increase month on month. Late night departures are also perhaps unsurprisingly materially down given the overall reduction in movements and the less need on carriers such as EasyJet seeking to cram in as many flights as possible.

Comparisons with 2019

Appendices 4 and 5 set out the equivalent data for Gatwick movements pre-pandemic so one can compare both the extent to which Gatwick has recovered and also to note what has materially changed to assist in considering the possible future traffic movements. Quite clearly, there are many significant differences between what we see currently and the equivalent period in 2019.

First, looking at total movements for equivalent weeks, we see this for November (2019/2023):

Week One: 4860/4421 Week Two: 4398/3919 Week Three: 4230/3808 Week Four: 4188/3777

The overall traffic recovery levels were thus 91%; 89%; 90% and 90% in comparison with the equivalent pre-pandemic period, which at an average of 90% is a notable decrease in recovery levels as compared to October's 96%.

November:	Landings		Take-offs
	2019	2023	2019	2023
2300-2329	173	183	20	5
2330-2359	59	109	5	4
0000-0059	24	122	2	7
0100-0159	5	25	2	2
0200-0259	5	8	0	7
0300-0359	21	13	10	1
0400-0459	19	17	0	0
0500-0529	54	9	1	1
0530-0559	69	46	7	34
0600-0629	124	108	138	178
0630-0659	137	117	258	237

This comparison shows that the number of night movements, particularly arrivals in the period after midnight and into the 'small hours', continues to be significantly higher than the levels experienced pre-pandemic and at a time when the overall numbers of flights are still some 10% lower. Overall movements during the 'core' night period, though much reduced in November 2023 were 405 as against 283 in 2019 – an increase of over 43%, a trend which seems to be being continued throughout 2023. The 'blips' in 2019 take-off numbers in the 2300 and 0300 periods are entirely due to departures by Ukraine Airlines, which obviously no longer operates into Gatwick.

These various figures and trends do suggest that one could challenge the long-term growth suggested by Gatwick in their DCO application for the Northern runway, particularly when one also takes into account the various other issues which might have an impact on air travel. As mentioned above and previously, the Night Flight regime is also currently under review by the DfT and we would hope that they are taking account of the current figures now that a level of normality has returned. We should hear further on this towards the end of the year.
