

GATWICK AIRPORT DETAILED MOVEMENT and NIGHT PERIOD ANALYSIS BY AIRLINE OPERATOR FEBRUARY 2025

Appended below is my regular monthly detailed report summarising both the daily movements at Gatwick and details of actual night period movements by airline for the month of February 2025. These are recorded from official data each day online on The Original Gatwick Spotters List.

While traffic levels in February were, as to be expected, higher than January's figures, they were barely little up on 2024. Average daily movements were 624 as against 530 in January (but in pre-Covid February 2019, the daily movements were 713). As previously discussed, one would have expected the Covid impact would have diminished but while the overall movements in the month were just 2.6% higher than in 2024, they remained at 88% in comparison with February 2019's figures (a similar %age as last month).

As to Night Movements, full details for the month are, as always, provided and this month it is noted that the overall level of night movements were actually reducing towards the month end but early morning departures were still materially above the equivalent numbers in 2020.

It is hoped that these analyses will assist in making informed representations in regard to the current regulatory consultations and committees.

Overall Summary of Movements.

Appendix 1 shows the numbers of movements each week since July 2021 showing the steady, but slowing, recovery in weekly movements. By comparison, in February 2019, the average weekly movements were 4,995 – indicating that Gatwick is still operating at 88% of pre-pandemic levels, the same recovery level as in January. It may be worth noting that Heathrow, in comparison, is claiming record numbers and states its traffic is above pre-Covid figures.

Appendix 2 shows a daily movement count for each airline. EasyJet still predominates and averaged just over 300 flights a day by the end of the month (it operated 179 flights/day in the final week of January 2024, while in February 2020 it operated 322 flights in the final week). Indeed, the growth in numbers of flights over January is almost entirely due to EasyJet; all other carriers showing virtually the same figures month on month. One will have to await the April figures, when the summer season kicks in, to see if Gatwick is actually recovering its traffic levels.

The Northern Runway project has been kicked down the road with the Secretary of State delaying a final decision until October, although indicating that she would be minded to approve subject to some further undertakings by Gatwick. But, by then, the prospects of Heathrow's potential third runway will perhaps be more defined. While, if built, it would not come into being until at least five years after Gatwick could commence operations on its second (but only short-haul take-off) runway, it is then likely that it would severely impact on Gatwick's traffic, particularly if many of Gatwick's long-haul operators obtained slots at what is their preferred hub airport. The present uncertainties might be seen as giving rise to somewhat of a gamble for Gatwick to obtain a long-term financial return on its proposed £2.2 billion investment!

Analysis of Night Period Flights

Appendix 3 below provides details of all movements by airline and time during the Night Period from 2300 to 0659; including the 'core' period of 2330 to 0559 where the numbers of movements are, at least in theory, subject to regulatory capping (there remains controversy as to a number of mechanisms which allow flights in excess of the cap).

In the period from 2300 to 0659; the hourly figures (half-hourly for 2300 and wef 0500) were as follows for February (January in brackets):

	Arrivals	Departures
2300-2329	156 (117)	4 (13)
2330-2359	53 (78)	0 (9)
0000-0059	55 (70)	2 (5)
0100-0159	48 (67)	2 (2)
0200-0259	40 (43)	0 (1)
0300-0359	11 (12)	0 (0)
0400-0459	40 (42)	0 (0)
0500-0529	43 (44)	0 (0)
0530-0559	52 (68)	45 (38)
0600-0629	92 (107)	273 (251)
0630-0659	105 (103)	294 (234)

Bearing in mind that February had three less days than January, arrivals in the core Night Period (2330-0559) in February were slightly higher (at 24.8 per night) than those in January (24.2 per night) and again, we must note the significant increase in early morning departures, which is a continuing trend.

Comparisons with 2019/20 (pre-Covid)

While there have been, as previously related, some significant operator changes between pre-Covid and today, the overall mix is not dissimilar with still a heavy concentration on short-haul low-fare European flights; hence we no longer publish detailed pre-Covid information but simply extract the summarised numbers. Details are available on request.

First, looking at total movements for equivalent four weeks, we see this for February:

	2019	2024	2025	Net Recovery 2019/2025
Week One	4834	3473	3947	81.7%
Week Two	5048	4132	4438	87.9%
Week Three	5132	4587	4767	92.9%
Week Four	5077	4370	4524	89.1%
Totals [4 weeks]	20091	16562	17676	88.0%
Totals [full month*]	19967	17032	17477	87.5%

*2024 adjusted to reflect leap year

The overall traffic recovery levels from pre-Covid in the month was thus 88%, which was the same level as in January.

In regard to Night Movements, we compare the current month with the equivalent both in February 2020 and in February 2024.

February:	Arrivals			Departures
	2020	2024	2025	2020	2024	2025
2300-2329	214	179	156	32	4	4
2330-2359	122	120	53	11	1	0
0000-0059	78	114	55	6	3	2
0100-0159	27	46	48	2	0	2
0200-0259	28	6	40	1	1	0
0300-0359	15	15	11	2	2	0
0400-0459	17	22	40	2	0	0
0500-0529	59	25	43	3	0	0
0530-0559	34	47	52	21	44	45
0600-0629	117	101	92	146	228	273
0630-0659	124	105	105	279	283	294
Totals	835	780	695	505	566	620
Core Night	380	395	342	48	51	49

This comparison shows that whilst the number of night arrivals in February 2025 were somewhat less than the equivalent pre-Covid level; however, at 83% it is not materially different to the aggregate movement level.

The overall level of night departures was, however, also materially up on both 2020 and 2024 figures with a continued trend in the increase in the 0530 to 0629 period, with EasyJet still forming the majority of the early morning departures.
